Attention: Mr. Ashid Bahl, President

Dear Mr. Bahl:

As a social worker in Neurosciences at the Alberta Children's Hospital, I am writing to thank the For Love of Children Society for your generosity in supporting children with special needs and their families. I have worked with families in pediatric health care for the past 29 years. This experience has been both humbling and extremely rewarding.

I work daily with wonderful families and children who face incredible challenges and often need to call on community groups for assistance. It is my belief that most people do not understand the level of emotional, physical and financial stress many families experience raising children with chronic health and/or developmental problems. Your organization clearly does understand and provides much appreciated support. Children with whom I work frequently require costly items which may not be funded by any government programs or insurance plans. Without your generosity these children's opportunities would be significantly limited.

I am aware the Society celebrated its 25th anniversary in 2005. Thank you to all in your organization for 25 years of commitment and dedication to children and their families. Societies such as yours are incredibly important to the community significantly impacting the quality of life for many.

Sincerely,

Sharon Seale MSW, RSW
